Description

Featuring a new technical concept plus a completely new design, the delegate unit DV9 is offered as a single desk as well as a unit for two delegates.

A key component is the front plate, which hides a field of up to twenty arbitrarily configurable keys. Customized solutions can be realized fast and cost-efficient by simple mechanical customisation of the front plate. Specific customer-tailored inscription using any language and/or symbol can be realized.

The delegate unit offers a large variation of features, including e. g. digital language selector, personal information display and chip card reader. Easy to use and operate - this was the main idea in designing the new unit.

CDSVAN combines a conference system (Congress Data System) with a software for audio processing (Virtual audio network). For conventional conference systems, new functions and extensions must usually be realized by means of additional hardware. Such hardware investments can be avoided using the CDSVAN software.
